

It is inconceivable to me how, if I am paying for the content, the NAB can attempt to restrict what I receive. This is a blatant attempt to stifle competition. XM subscribers willingly pay for the content and programming which the NAB cannot or will not provide and that is fine and the way it should be. Satellite radio is a viable alternative to "free broadcasting" just as cable and satellite tv is to "free tv". Do not succumb to industry pressure to restrict competition.